Creative Long Term Care Administration 4th Edition
06f4cd54aac57cc55ee0d4e5ad19da72

Creative Long-term Care Administration
Small Business Sourcebook
Health Care Administration
Assisted Living Administration
Psycbooks 1988

The Journal of Nursing Education
Creative Forecasting
Medical Direction in the Nursing Home
The Cumulative Book Index
Professional Practice for Nurse Administrators/directors of Nursing in Long-term Care Facilities
Journal - American Health Care Association
Medical Direction in Long Term Care
Managing Institutional Long-term Care for the Elderly
Provider

Best at Home
Among the issues confronting America is long-term care for frail, older persons and others with chronic conditions and functional limitations that limit their ability to care for themselves. Improving the Quality of Long-Term Care takes a comprehensive look at the quality of care and quality of life in long-term care, including nursing homes, home health agencies, residential care facilities, family members and a variety of others. This book describes the current state of long-term care, identifying problem areas and offering recommendations for federal and state policymakers. Who uses long-term care? How have the characteristics of this population changed over time? What paths do people follow in long term care? The committee provides the latest information on these and other key questions. This book explores strengths and limitations of available data and research literature especially for settings other than nursing homes, on methods to measure, oversee, and improve the quality of long-term care. The committee makes recommendations on setting and enforcing standards of care, strengthening the caregiving workforce, reimbursement issues, and expanding the knowledge base to guide organizational and individual caregivers in improving the quality of care.

Education for Administration in Long Term Care Facilities

Long-term Care Administration
Journal of Human Services Abstracts
Hospital Literature Index
Managing Health Services Organizations

Nursing Home Exemplars of Quality

Indices of Quality in Long-term Care

Current Catalog

An introduction to the practice of nursing home administration, organized into five parts: management, personnel, finance, the industry's environment, and resident/patient care. Each section provides a working vocabulary and detailed description of activities associated with it. Intended to provide the essential information needed for those seeking licensure or employment as a nursing home administrator, the volume presents new information on the use of computer networks and client-server architecture in the nursing facility, updated information on the theories of aging, and extensive new resources and regulatory material. Annotation (c)2003 Book News, Inc., Portland, OR (booknews.com).

Improving the Quality of Long-Term Care

Nursing Home Administration

Medical and Health Care Books and Serials in Print, 1993

The prior three editions of this book were extremely well received for use in undergraduate and graduate courses in long-term care administration, and they were also popular as fundamental resources with practitioners as well as for an array of other long-term care practitioners and professions, including housing managers, board members, teachers, students, administrators, owners, and health care professionals who are seeking new directions in the field. This, the fourth edition, has been extensively revised. There is, for example, the fundamental updating throughout to reflect structural and regulatory changes that have been occurring in the field as well as the introduction of recent research findings, evolving ideas, and new practices. In addition, there are new perspectives introduced by nine new chapter authors plus three entirely new chapters: monitoring clinical outcomes, spiritual care, and using information technology. The book is divided into six sections: The Evolution of Long-Term Care; Developing the Organization; Human Resource Management; Optimizing Health Care Outcomes; Creating a Supportive Living Environment; and Creating a Better Future. This new edition also has an additional author, Dr. Leslie Grant, whose seasoned scholarship and visionary leadership will provide important, additional insight for the reader. The ideas presented are intended to provide a better understanding of the long-term care environment and to suggest ways of applying interdisciplinary knowledge for the administrator in this setting.

Real People, Real Problems

The Journal of Long Term Care Administration

This valuable book that will increase knowledge & comprehension about: The expanding role of the nursing home in the health care system & the intergration of the role into the continuum of care. The need for the nursing home to relate effectively to all its constituencies-residents, family members, medical professionals, community leaders. The value of a physician-a medical director-who identifies with the nursing home organization & who provides a physician's input into the nursing home's decision process. The value of the medical director to the nursing home administration & the ways his or her services can be used fully in developing the nursing home's capabilities. The value of a medical director who assumes a leadership role among nursing home staff members & caregivers. The value of the medical director to the administration in analyzing & communicating the medical implications of the changing long-term care environment.

Nursing Home Management

Current significant studies of hospital management and planning. Although journal articles and other published literature are included, unpublished studies, such as those with limited or regional distribution, are also described. Focuses on the hospital and its environment, with emphasis on information gathered through structured surveys and studies. Classified arrangement. Author, source, subject, and microfilm indexes.

American Book Publishing Record

Long Term Care & Health Services Administration Quarterly

Includes section "Books and reports."

Social Work

Ohio Schools

Total Patient Care

Families in Society

A world list of books in the English language.

American Journal of Public Health

Believing in Senior Living

Promoting Family Involvement in Long-term Care Settings

Believing in Senior Living: Insight and Inspiration for the Future of Our Profession pushes against conventional thinking about senior living while highlighting proven methods for the marketing and management of vibrant communities. The book analyzes current trends and challenges facing the profession. Discussion questions at the end of each chapter make the book an ideal resource for individual and group study. Author M. Sloan Bentley, a gerontologist and widely known senior living leader, articulates here the common values that mark the profession at its best, and she spells out in provocative and practical ways how senior living organizations can succeed.

Abstracts of Health Care Management Studies

First multi-year cumulation covers six years: 1965-70.

The American Journal of Occupational Therapy